Local elderly resident

You have lived in the area most of your life and have many happy memories of the park, including going there as a child and then with your own children.

You still walk around the park each day with your dog and are sad to see so much damage and so many derelict features.

You feel that many facilities and buildings should be repaired for the benefit of local people and groups.

Before the meeting, think about:

- Why the park is important to you?
- Why you visited the park in the past and what you did?
- What could the park offer people your age?
- How might the area's past be commemorated in the park?
